Starting A Law Practice and Professionalism for New Lawyers (Aspen Select) Alexander Y. Benikov
Four years ago, Mr. Benikov was loading bread trucks in a bakery in South Phoenix. Today, Mr. Benikov owns his own successful criminal defense practice and is a law professor. When Mr. Benikov started his own practice and left the bakery, he literally didn't know where the courthouse was. This book is about how his law practice was started and built and how other young attorneys can start their own practice. Mr. Benikov wanted to write a book that not only dealt with starting a law practice but how to go about developing a professional reputation. Any young attorney who has any interest in ever having their own practice or improving their professional reputation will find this book useful.
