Final Destiny - The Novel Michael Ulman

The Novel is a 3 book series all in one book! BOOK ONE -It was the summer of 1898. For the Indians the beginning of a new era. The war had driven from home to home until one day a great battle ended. So began the long journey along a path called the trail of tears. Afterward they were placed here on the Cherokee Indian reservation in Cherokee North Carolina. Their old chief died in the great battle, his name was Raging Bull, he was one of the oldest and wisest ever known. Several months before they were relocated here on the reservation. His wife morning-dove found out she was pregnant. Now nine months later and in their new home she was soon expecting to deliver her only son. Her son was to be the tribe's next chief. Many warriors stepped up to claim the position but the elders of the tribe forbid their offering and insisted that the newborn was destined to be chief as was told to them in a dream, sent to them by the Great Spirit. This new chief would lead his people and see the day of the chosen one spoken of their people for a thousand years. BOOK TWO-In the summer of 1998, as many times before, Michael decided to take a small vacation at his favorite place on earth, the Blue Ridge Mountains. Hiking the Appalachian Trail to the top of Mt. Lecont contains some of the most beautiful views on earth. The trail starts as an easy grade, then crosses a few streams, runs along a road, and then begins a steep four- mile climb to Mt. Lecont. This trip would prove different than any other time he hiked the trails. This time what he would see, feel, and discover would change his life. Meanwhile, in the big city, a hard working neurologist who spent all of her life in school and working, decided that she needed a change in her life. A trip to her sister's in Detroit would give her time to rest and decide what to do with her life. All airline reservations to Detroit were booked; so, she decided to drive. An accidental detour through the Blue Ridge Mountains would change her life forever. This is where they both would find their true strength, and find their Final Destiny

BOOK Three. Cherokee was born the summer of 1999. He was the son of Michael and Katherine. Katherine was a female Doctor from Tampa Florida. In the eighth month of her pregnancy she moved up to North Carolina early in the summer of 1999. Michael whom had passed away from a brain tumor eight months ago. This is where they both met and conceived their soon to be son. Katherine felt that she must return to the mountains to deliver Michaels child as she had promised.As humans we all have three things in common, we all are born, we all will die and we all have a destiny. God gave each of us a gift it's called "free will." It's up to each of us weather we follow our hearts or ignore them. When Destiny takes hold it attached to you heart and spirit. If you break away from it you feel separated from yourself, you may never feel the same again. People often call it life's many changes, but the Indians call it foolish. Sometime in life we have things happen that seems too good to be true. Maybe it is because we want it to seem that way or could it be Destiny knocking? If you don't open the door you'll never know. If you do open the door may your destiny be wonderful, loving and magical. Do you love to hear the wind blowing thru the trees and the sound of a cascading creek, the birds singing their song? Thunder as it rumbles through the sky? And when a magnificent animal like an elk or moose, black bear or grizzly crosses your path? Feel speechless in awe for the things god gave us, and yet the "foolish white man" Destroys. There are humans that view nature in black and "White." But there are those of us that see it and feel it in full and magnificent color! We are brothers by birth, by blood and by Choice! We are Cherokee!

And remember, for those of you still searching for your Destiny. "Stop looking!" You do not find Destiny. Destiny finds you!
