This historic book may have numerous typos and missing text. Purchasers can usually download a free scanned copy of the original book (without typos) from the publisher. Not indexed. Not illustrated. 1876 edition. Excerpt: ... all the scum, cool and put into a dark, cool place. If a few gallons are desired place in a keg, but the keg must be even full, and after fermentation has taken place and the scum removed, draw off and botde, and cork tight. BEE-KEEPERS' GUIDE. APIARY, Establishment of an.--The proper time for this purpose is about February, or the beginning of March, as the stocks have then passed through the winter ia safety; the combs are then empty of broods, and light of honey, and may be removed with safety and ease. Stocks should be selected by a competent judge, as the weight alone cannot always be relied on; such as weigh 12 lbs. and upwards, the number of Bees being also observed, and that they are well combed to near the bottom, may be safely chosen. As soon as they are brought home they should be set in the Bee-house, care being taken to keep them dry and free from the attacks of vermin. The best time for removing stocks is in the evening. Swarms should be brought home the same evening they are purchased, for if delayed a day or two, the combs will be worked, and subject to be broken in removing. BEE-KEEPING, Success in.--Success in bee-keeping, as well as success in everything else, depends so much upon taking hold of it the right way and sticking to it with a determination to succeed, that we will offer a few suggestions, which may be of use to the new beginner. A person commencing bee-keeping, as well as anything else, had better begin moderately. Two or three, or perhaps four hives, are as many as it would be safe in a majority of cases to commence operations with. These may be purchased of any bee-keeper who has them to spare; or what may be better, have hives made such as you want, and engage some neighbor who keeps bees to put his...
